

Rosann attended her high school's 50th reunion on March 04, 2011. She looked ravishing. Twenty eight hours later she underwent emergency brain surgery to save her life. In a single day, with little warning, her life changed.

Rosann had Stage 4 lung cancer. Statistics say she has only a few months to live. Her St. Louis doctors gave her two-four months. Her PCP in Tampa told her there is no hope. She would die. Her medical oncologist told her that nothing else matters once the cancer get's to the brain. The operation left her legally blind and the ophthalmologist told her there was no chance of regaining her eyesight. This was the hand she was dealt and this book tells the story of how she played the cards, and won.

Jim: "Her disposition never changed. She remained a kind, gentle person who always thought of others first. She was so strong, inside, where it counted."

Rosann: "I live my life one day at a time, trying to make the best of what I have to deal with. What else can I do? I'm not giving up."

"Fighting Back & Winning" is a story of a courageous woman that overcame lung cancer, three brain tumors and blindness. She enjoyed two more beautiful years with her husband, Jim. Rosann was still praying for a miracle when the Lord decided to bring her to a better place.

Rosann wants this book to be an inspiration to others facing difficult situations and to offer a roadmap on how to face these challenges. She wants her grandchildren, and their children, to be able to read this book someday and understand the kind of person she was.
